Guidelines and Safety

Consult your system installation manual for the recommended use of air control products. We will be glad to assist you but it is your responsibility to insure proper airflow and safety. Insure that all of our products are secured as necessary to prevent injuries.

It is especially important that the correct size return air grille be used and mounted as close to the system evaporator as possible. It cannot be mounted in such a manner that it would introduce deadly fumes into the living quarters. Short on space? With our almost unlimited number of sizes and special custom shapes in our wood-framed line, you should be able to insure maximum airflow. Is that drawer a perfect place for the return air grille but you do not want to go through the work of making a stock grille fit? Pull it out, throw it away and give us the cutout dimensions. We will make a grille to fit that space.

WOOD-FRAMED GRILLES

We offer a great number of size and options in our wood-framed grille line. In order to insure that you get what you want, please make your selections in Steps 1-5.

First Step. Choose your grille model by code

Code	Description
RA	Return-Air Grille, with fixed vanes, track and filter
RAR	Return-Air Grille, with our EZ removable fixed vanes, track and optional filter
V	Supply Grille, Single Deflection (one row of vanes run vertical)
VH	Supply Grille, Double Deflection (two rows of vanes, front one vertical)
WG	Supply Grille, Double Deflection 30 Degree Wedge (two rows of vanes)
WGML	Supply Grille, Single Deflection & Damper 30 Degree Wedge (one row + damper row)

Step 2. Choose a wood species. Our most common wood species are listed below with their letter designators. Call us to inquire about other species not listed. We are the only manufacturer of our kind that runs their own molder to insure quality and fast orders.

Price Level	Wood Code	Wood Name	Wood Description
1	A	ASH	American White Ash
1	B	BEECH	American Beech
1	SC	CEDAR	Spanish Cedar
1	H	HICKORY	American Hickory
1	JT	JATOBA	Brazilian Jatoba
1	MK	MAKORE	African Cherry
1	MA	MAPLE	American Soft Maple
1	O	OAK	American White Oak
1	P	POPLAR	American Poplar (Paint Wood)
2	C	CHERRY	American Cherry
2	M	MAHOGANY	Honduran Mahogany
2	T	TEAK	Asian Teak
2	W	WALNUT	American Walnut

Please continue on the next page with steps 3, 4, 5 and 6. Steps 3 and 4 are probably the most important steps as this is where you will specify the dimensions of the grille. The order of the dimensions is particularly important as that will determine the direction of the vanes.

Step 3. Specify the horizontal dimension of the grille cutout.

Step 4. Specify the vertical dimension of the grille cutout.

In order for us to build the grille you want correctly, you need to specify the horizontal dimension first. As you review the different models you will see the correlation of dimensions to blade direction.

Step 5. Add any options listed below.

A. Face Options (Please note face dimension drawing below)

- F1 1-1/8" wide face
- F2 7/8" wide face (default face, no need to specify)
- F3 1/2" wide face (grille cut-out dimensions are critical)
- F4 Non-faced (use for custom built-in applications)

B. Other Options

- DF Delete standard filter
- RC Round grille corners (F1 and F2 face only)
- WB Replace bronze blades with white
- KB Replace bronze blades with black
- BB Replace white blades with bronze

Step 6. Add any finishing options. Other colors are available.

Plastic-Framed Grilles

Product Overview

Our plastic-framed grille offers the HVAC industry an unique and functional product. The grille is constructed standard with a smooth white UV ABS vacuum-formed frame and white baked-on mill-painted aluminum blades. The blades are installed as fixed (PG) or adjustable (PGA) into an ABS plastic track. An optional black haircel ABS with black baked-on mill-painted blades is available (add the code letters BK to the end of any of the product codes). Custom paint colors are also available at additional costs.

Installed into the sides of the grille are stainless steel spring catches. They secure the blade/track assembly inside the grille frame but their primary purpose is more functional. They hold the grille into what we call a mounting frame. This mounting frame (MF) is constructed of four injection-molded corners and four pieces of extruded sides glued together. It is mounted from the finished side of the wall and then the grille is “snapped” into it. Grille removal is just as easy.

Our standard transition boxes are constructed of black ABS with a haircel finish. They are all slightly more than 5" deep and at the opening they are 1/4" larger than the nominal size. The flange corners and all edges are rounded to avoid sharp points.

All of our standard transitions boxes can be assembled at the factory with one or more rings attached and additionally openings can be closed to create a distribution plenum. Specify the side by letter followed by a ring size. We will use a round ring if possible. If not, we will use either an oblong ring or a flat oval. The opening can be closed off with a blank or with one or more rings. Please provide a drawing for complex configurations and any internal baffles.

AirDivider

2 Inlet Supply Types (A or H)

Configure our AirDividers by first choosing one of two inlet supply types (Adapter on left or Hose on right). Both begin with a blower adapter secured to your unit. If you want to mount our AirDivider directly onto the blower specify "A". The draft angle on our blower adapters is a perfect fit for our A-style AirDividers. Rotate the AirDivider as necessary and secure. If you will be connecting to the blower with hose duct specify "H" and secure duct on all fittings.

3 Basic Shapes (T, Y, P)

There are three basic AirDivider shapes "T", "Y" and our new "P" and they are available in all sizes. The "T" and "Y" shape are self-explanatory. The "P" shape is derived from "pistol" where the inlet is the pistol grip, the outlet to the right at 90 degrees is the barrel and the outlet at 30 degrees to the left is the hammer. It will be important to use this pistol image if you specify different outlet sizes in this "P" model. See more explanations later in this section.

At this point you have six possible designations to include AT, AY, AP, HT, HY and HP.

Inlet Fittings

We have five basic AirDivider bodies (4"-8"). We have seven adapter inlet fittings (3"-9") and seven hose inlet fittings (3"-9"). We are currently putting the 3" on the 4" body and the 9" on the 8" body. As you will see below we have 42 possible models even before we add the outlet fittings.

4"-Body AT3, AT4, AY3, AY4, AP3, AP4, HT3, HT4, HY3, HY4, HP3, HP4

5"-Body AT5, AY5, AP5, HT5, HY5, HP5

6"-Body AT6, AY6, AP6, HT6, HY6, HP6

7"-Body AT7, AY7, AP7, HT7, HY7, HP7

8"-Body AT8, AT9, AY8, AY9, AP8, AP9, HT8, HT9, HY8, HY9, HP8, HP9

Outlet Fittings

It is now time to add the two outlet sizes to our AirDividers. We have seven possible outlet size from 2" - 8". The maximum outlet size is controlled by the body size which is controlled by the inlet size. Available outlet sizes per body are:

4"-Body 2", 3", 4"

5"-Body 2", 3", 4", 5"

6"-Body 2", 3", 4", 5", 6"

7"-Body 2", 3", 4", 5", 6", 7"

8"-Body 2", 3", 4", 5", 6", 7", 8"

Instructions for P Model

Please pay attention to these instructions for specifying our P model. If you specify equal sized outlet sizes you can skip these instructions. The order of numbering is inlet size (pistol grip) followed by the left side (hammer) and then ending with the right side (barrel). Let's say that you have decided on a AP4 model which will fit on our HA4 blower adapter. You want a 4" hose to go out the barrel but you want a 3" at the trigger. The part number would be AP434.

Hidden inside of all of our AirDividers is our exclusive air diverter. Cut on our CNC routers this simple piece of plastic is very effective in controlling the amount of air force at the two outlets. With the new models we also started adding simple bumps to the outlets to assist in securing hose duct. Although our inventive AirDividers have been copied in concept and name we feel that no one has equaled the MSI AirDivider.
